Hamilton Company Assumes SLAS2015 Premier Sponsor Role

CHICAGO – The Society for Laboratory Automation and Screening (SLAS) announced that Hamilton Company will serve as the Premier Sponsor at SLAS2015, the fourth-annual conference and exhibition of the Society.

“SLAS is pleased to welcome Hamilton as our Premier Sponsor at SLAS2015,” said Greg Dummer, SLAS CEO. “Hamilton’s longstanding support of our Society, and this annual event in particular, is most gratifying and worthy of recognition. SLAS is proud to call Hamilton a partner and to thank them for their support that enables the Society to deliver an event and exhibition of the quality and scope of SLAS2015.”

“We are excited to be the Premier Sponsor at SLAS2015, one of the most important annual events for the professionals and industries we serve,” said Steve Hamilton, CEO, Hamilton Company. “SLAS plays a critical role in educating and connecting researchers, scientists, academics and other users of scientific technologies. All of us at Hamilton are proud to support the SLAS mission and look forward to meeting with partners and customers at SLAS2015 in February.”

SLAS2015 takes place Feb. 7-11, 2015, at the Walter E. Washington Convention Center in Washington, DC, USA. Expected to attract more than 5,000 attendees, SLAS2015 will feature seven educational tracks, 132 podium presentations, 400+ poster presentations, 17 short courses, an expansive products and services exhibition, Special Interest Groups, career services, and more. Keynote presenters include NIH Director Francis Collins and Donald Ingber, Founding Director, Wyss Institute for Biologically Inspired Engineering at Harvard University.
